Even in challenging times of change we create our lives.

Energy philosophy tells us that we each have limitless power to create. What is true is that we cannot manifest anything in opposition to our values and beliefs. The good news is that these values and beliefs form the foundation upon which we create our lives. The bad news is that many of these values and beliefs are outside our conscious awareness.

Suzan has taught results and manifestation courses and workshops since the early '80s. She is skilled in making complex ideas easily understood and applicable for everyday use.

This five (5) week course offers a rich blend of current psychological and scientific data with the spiritual wisdom of aligning your creative power with your personal values.

In Living Your Creative Power, you will focus on clarifying your values, exploring your beliefs, defining your purpose, choosing what you want and aligning your thoughts, emotions, behaviors, images and words with your intentions and choices. Join us as we begin this New 2009 Year living our creative power.
